Live band Por Que No brings salsa, bachata and tropical energy to Stadion Neptunus during Typical Tropical Outdoor. The open-air dance event takes place on Sunday 12 July at one of Rotterdam's most relaxed summer locations, surrounded by trees, sports fields and the Neptunus baseball stadium.

The evening starts with doors open and DJ music from 17:45, followed by a live performance by Por Que No. After the band, DJ Jarzino takes over from 19:00 to 23:00 for a full evening of dancing under the summer sky.

The venue is one of the best-known baseball locations in the Netherlands and has hosted major baseball events such as the World Port Tournament. With fixed grandstand seating, evening lighting and facilities including changing rooms, a clubhouse and business lounge, it works especially well for outdoor sports events, summer gatherings, dance events, company outings and community events with a stadium feel.

Located at Abraham van Stolkweg 31, close to the Van Nelle area and easily reachable from Rotterdam Noord, Neptunus Stadion offers a practical yet memorable setting for events that need more character than a standard hall or conference venue.
