Biita Houdei

Event - Biita Houdei ↻

When	Tue, 20. October 2026, 20:30 h
Category	Live Music in Rotterdam

Description

Experimental folk singer-songwriter Biita Houdei comes to Lab Grounds for her only performance in the Netherlands. Formerly known as LéPonds, the Woodstock-based artist brings together her Persian heritage and American upbringing in intimate, emotionally charged songs.

During the Rotterdam concert, Houdei presents her latest work, This Bed Was Made For Me. Her music moves through dreamy folk, suspenseful arrangements and unexpected turns, led by a highly personal guitar style she developed intuitively from a young age.

After releasing three albums under her former name, Houdei begins a new chapter with music rooted in tradition but never restricted by it. Fans of Haley Heynderickx, Jessica Pratt, Fleet Foxes and Grizzly Bear should feel at home in her atmospheric sound.

Description

Lab Grounds is Podium Grounds’ intimate second stage in the former HBS school building on ’s-Gravendijkwal in Rotterdam’s Oude Westen, a flexible room where the Grounds team programmes adventurous gigs, club nights, workshops and community events; it complements the main Grounds hall on Pieter de Hoochweg and doubles as a creative third space and café that supports emerging artists and neighbourhood projects.
