Charlie Cunningham: Lines 10th anniversary

Event - Charlie Cunningham: Lines 10th anniversary ↻

When	Sun, 14. February 2027, 20:00 h
Category	Live Music in Rotterdam

Description

British singer-songwriter Charlie Cunningham comes to Rotterdam’s Arminius for a special concert marking the tenth anniversary of his debut album Lines.

Cunningham is known for warm, melancholic folk built around a relaxed vocal style and highly distinctive, percussive guitar playing. His time living in Seville left a lasting mark on his music, with subtle flamenco influences woven into his acoustic sound.

Released in 2017, Lines established Cunningham internationally and remains a defining album in his catalogue. For this anniversary performance, he revisits the record with the addition of strings, giving the songs extra depth in the intimate setting of Arminius.

Listeners of Fink, José González, Nick Mulvey and RY X should find plenty to appreciate in Cunningham’s understated songwriting and intricate guitar work.

Description

Arminius is a striking, restored monument building at Museumpark that doubles as a cultural stage and a distinctive live music setting. Inside, the former church hall gives gigs a big, warm sound, with acoustics that suit everything from intimate singer-songwriter shows to full-band performances. The main hall can be set up seated or standing, which is why you'll see it used for concert series and special shows in Rotterdam.
