Description

Historic ship De Oostenwind becomes a musical instrument during Klankexpeditie Oostenwind, an audiovisual performance by Foundscape Orchestra in Rotterdam's historic harbours.

Sound artist Daniel Maalman and musicians Jasper Schütz and Jaap Mutter use self-built sound sculptures, mechanical devices and the metal structure of De Oostenwind itself to create a live, site-specific performance combining sound, light and maritime heritage. The performance lasts approximately 25 minutes.

The ship will be moored at Wijnhaven on Friday 2 and Saturday 3 October, before moving to Oude Haven on Friday 9 and Saturday 10 October 2026.

Description

De Oostenwind is a historic inland cargo vessel built in Belgium in 1962. The nearly 39-metre-long ship is a traditional ‘spits’, a type of narrow cargo barge once widely used on the waterways connecting the Netherlands, Belgium and France. Its working past and preserved industrial character make it a fitting piece of Rotterdam’s maritime heritage.
