Description

Rising singer-songwriter TÄRA brings her distinctive blend of Arabic musical traditions and contemporary R&B to Grounds in Rotterdam on Sunday 6 December 2026. With a sound she calls Arab'n'B, the Italian-Palestinian artist combines soulful vocals, modern production and Middle Eastern influences into music that explores identity, belonging and cultural heritage.

Growing up in a small village in Italy's Frosinone province, TÄRA experienced life between two cultural worlds. Her Italian upbringing and Palestinian heritage became important influences on her musical identity, inspiring her to create songs that connect different languages, traditions and perspectives.

Introducing Arab'n'B

TÄRA's music blends the melodies and expressive vocal traditions of Arabic music with contemporary R&B rhythms and pop production. Singing in Italian, Arabic and English, she explores the personal experiences and cultural connections that have shaped her life.

Her debut EP, Zefiro, released in 2026, features six tracks inspired by the landscapes and cultural traditions of the Levant. The record transforms her experiences of growing up between different identities into a musical narrative about heritage, connection and self-expression.

Songs including Mezzaluna, Diaspora and Hala demonstrate her ability to combine contemporary sounds with traditional influences, creating music that feels both personal and accessible.

Known for her expressive performances and energetic stage presence, TÄRA is attracting attention as an emerging voice in contemporary cross-cultural pop. Her Rotterdam concert offers the chance to discover her music in the intimate surroundings of Grounds.
