Description

A voice between heaven and earth returns to BIRD

Grammy-nominated artist Valerie June returns to Rotterdam for a magical solo concert at BIRD. Known for her ethereal fusion of folk, soul, gospel, and roots, June captured hearts at the same venue in 2017—and now she’s back with fresh material and timeless charm.

Born in Tennessee and shaped by both the Southern US and New York's buzzing scene, June blends raw intimacy with soulful power. Her distinct voice and mystical presence have earned praise from legends like Bob Dylan, while collaborations with Robert Plant and Norah Jones cemented her status as a genre-defying artist.

Live, her music feels like a front-porch jam session under starlight—raw, enchanting, and full of spirit. Expect songs from her latest album Owls, Omens, and Oracles, where her signature vibe shines: deep, groovy, and disarmingly honest.

Description

BIRD is a vibrant venue in Rotterdam's Hofbogen district, seamlessly blending a restaurant, club, and stage under one roof. Established in 2011, it has become a cultural hub, deeply rooted in jazz while embracing genres like soul, funk, hip-hop, and electronic music.

The name 'BIRD' pays homage to the legendary jazz saxophonist Charlie 'Bird' Parker, reflecting its commitment to jazz and related musical styles. The venue offers a diverse programme featuring both local emerging talent and international artists, making it a go-to spot for cultural enthusiasts.
