The poster for Audio Obscura Festival 2026 features a dark, geometric design with a central star-like shape. It lists the event details: 29 AUGUST 2026, UNESCO World Heritage Site, Van Nelle Factory, Rotterdam. The line-up is divided into four areas: FRAME (Chris Stussy, DJ Heartstring, DJ Gigola, Chloé Caillet, Eileen, Folamour, Olive F, TLM), FABRIC (AAT, Honey Dijon, Joëlla Jackson b2b Rayzir, Marsolo, Max Dean, Obskür b2b Luuk van Dijk, Prospa), YARD BY STËLZ (Fabio Santos, Hidde van Wee, Idemi, Jordan Briscoe b2b William Kiss, Rode Ann Essey, Sippa), and BOILERHOUSE (Jelly, Juliana X, Nala Brown, OG Karin, Surusinghe).

Description

Audio Obscura Festival returns to Rotterdam with a large-scale electronic music programme inside the Van Nelle Factory. The UNESCO World Heritage Site becomes a multi-area club setting, bringing together established international names, rising selectors and Dutch talent across four stages.

The Frame programme features Chris Stussy, DJ Heartstring, Folamour and Olive F, alongside DJ Gigola back-to-back with Chloé Caillet. Fabric welcomes Honey Dijon, Max Dean, Prospa and a back-to-back set from Obskür and Luuk van Dijk.

Outside, the Yard by Stëlz presents Fabio Santos, Hidde van Wee, Idemi and several back-to-back combinations. The Boilerhouse completes the festival with Jelly, Juliana X, Nala Brown, OG Karin and Surusinghe.

With house, electronic club music and fast-moving DJ sets spread across the former factory complex, the festival pairs a strong international line-up with one of Rotterdam's most distinctive industrial locations.

Van Nelle Fabriek works brilliantly as a music venue because it already feels like a stage: a huge industrial landmark of concrete, steel and glass, with long sightlines, high ceilings, and that unmistakable “Rotterdam icon” atmosphere. It’s set up for events at scale, with multiple spaces that can be configured for anything. From an intimate set to a full-on festival crowd, plus modern audio-visual facilities and the option to fully darken rooms for a proper club feel.
