Description

Thee Sinseers return to BIRD for a special night as the venue celebrates 15 years. With their warm blend of sweet soul, vintage R&B and lowrider grooves, the band brings the kind of show that feels made for a full room, red lights and slow dancing near the front.

Built around Joey Quiñones, Thee Sinseers have been shaping their own soul sound since 2019. Their music is deeply rooted in classic soul, but never feels stuck in the past. On their album Love Stories, they move through raw love, broken hearts, hope, doubt and everything in between, with songs that feel honest rather than polished to perfection.

This is one of those concerts that slowly gets under the skin: warm, intimate and almost impossible to stand still through. As part of 15 years of BIRD, it lands exactly where it should.

Description

BIRD is a vibrant venue in Rotterdam's Hofbogen district, seamlessly blending a restaurant, club, and stage under one roof. Established in 2011, it has become a cultural hub, deeply rooted in jazz while embracing genres like soul, funk, hip-hop, and electronic music.

The name 'BIRD' pays homage to the legendary jazz saxophonist Charlie 'Bird' Parker, reflecting its commitment to jazz and related musical styles. The venue offers a diverse programme featuring both local emerging talent and international artists, making it a go-to spot for cultural enthusiasts.
